KEOKUK.

The Mississippi Valley Commercial Convention—Third Day's Proceedings—Adjourned Sine Die.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

KEOKUK, Iowa, September 9.—The Mississippi Valley Commercial Convention reassembled this morning at nine o'clock. The report of the Committee on the Mississippi river and its tributaries was called for, but the Committee not being ready other business was called for.

An address prepared and put in print by Mr. Dalhonde, of New Orleans, having reference to Louisiana and its resources, was presented and ordered to be printed with the proceedings, without reading.

A resolution was passed to petition Congress to make an appropriation for holding a World's Fair in the Valley of the Mississippi in 1871.

A resolution was passed appointing a Committee to superintend the printing of the proceedings.

The Committee on the Mississippi River then presented its report, or that part of its report of yesterday, which was recommitted to it in the shape of a bill to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Ohio river, &c.

Section first provides that any bridge hereafter built across the Ohio river shall be made with continuous and unbroken spans, and the span across the main low water mark forty feet above high water mark for the elevation of the bottom chord of the bridge. All the other spans shall be at least three hundred feet in length in the clear, and the span crossing the main low water channel shall be fully four hundred feet of unobstructed passage way in all stages of water.

Section two provides that bridges built under this Act shall be at right angles with the direction of the current in the main channel, and the piers be always parallel to the current, and the bridge shall be so located that the current of the main channel shall move in a straight line one thousand feet above the bridge and five hundred feet below, and no riprap shall be placed around the basis of the piers to compensate for inadequate foundations.

Section three requires that before building a bridge across the Ohio river by a State or persons the plans for the bridge shall be submitted to the inspection and approval of the Secretary of War, and if approved, the building of the bridge may be commenced at once, but if the conditions of this act are not complied with, the Secretary of War shall detail a Board of United States Engineers, who shall decide what changes shall be made to secure a compliance with the provisions of this act.

Section four provides that persons or corporations constructing bridges shall take measures to prevent any change occurring in the river bed after the work shall have been commenced that would injuriously affect the navigation of the river.

Section five provides that any bridge built under the act shall be a careful structure and shall be known as a post route and no charge shall be made for the transmission of the mails over it, or troops and munitions of war of the United States.

Section six provides that all bridges hereafter built on the Mississippi below the mouth of the Missouri shall be constructed under the foregoing conditions, with the exception that the main span shall be five hundred feet in the clear.

Section seven provides that the bridges hereafter built on the Missouri river and on the Mississippi below the mouth of the Missouri shall be built upon the same conditions, with the following exceptions: If constructed with continuous spans, the span over the main channel to be not less than three hundred feet clear of the water-way and not less than fifty feet above high water mark. If constructed with a draw or pivot it must be not less than three hundred feet clear of water way, and that the draw shall be promptly opened for steamers.

Section eight reserves the right to alter and amend this act so as to prevent or remove all material obstructions to the navigation of said river by the construction of bridges.

The report closes with a resolution requesting the Secretary of War to constitute a board of army engineers to examine all other navigable streams tributary to the Mississippi that may be crossed by railway lines, and fix the spans and report the conditions and general principles upon which railway bridges may hereafter be constructed over them.

A minority report was presented by two of the Committee and a substitute by Judge Miller, but after a lengthy debate, which was at times sharp and often personal, the minority report and the substitute of Judge Miller were laid on the table and the majority report given above adopted.

The resolutions presented yesterday, in favor of the removal of the national Capital were taken up and passed.

The Committee on Foreign Commerce made a long and elaborate report through their Chairman, Judge Burwell, of Louisiana, concluding with resolutions, First looking to reciprocal trade with all nations; requesting the appointing power to give to the Mississippi Valley a full share of the diplomatic appointments; requesting the cities and towns on the Mississipi to extend the municipal facilities and commercial economies indicated in the report; to contract the rivalry of the cross routes and to regain the foreign and domestic commerce of this Valley; requesting aid from the cities and towns on the Mississippi, to establish an immigrant depot in New Orleans; requesting the reduction of the revenue on some articles of permanent and popular consumption; and that the representatives of the Mississippi Valley introduce a bill for the increase and equalization of the postal steam system, by giving subsidies to steamers running between New Orleans and foreign ports.

The Committee to memorialize Congress in accordance with the resolution, was named as follows: Vandever, Iowa, Stannard, Missouri, Davis, Ohio, Turner, Illinois, Kerr, Pennsylvania, Delahay, Kansas.

Adjourned until two o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Convention met at two o'clock. The first business in order was announced as the report of the Committee on Foreign Commerce. After a brief debate, the report and resolutions were adopted.

Colonel Grosvener, from the Immigration Committee, offered a resolution that an increased supply of skilled and intelligent labor is peculiarly necessary for the development of the resources of the Mississippi Valley, and the Convention heartily favors every effort to encourage free immigration from every quarter. Adopted.

Mr. Shryock, of St. Louis, offered a resolution in favor of a reduction of the duty on salt from twenty-four per cent. to fifteen per cent. ad valorem. Laid on the table, as was also a substitute offered by Col. Grosvenor in favor of a revision of our tariff system, the Convention regarding them as not germain to the objects for which it assembled.

After resolutions of thanks to the citizens of Keokuk, the officers of the Convention, &c, the Convention adjourned sine die.

THE COAL MINE HORROR.

The Work of Recovering the Dead Bodies—Trouble with the Miners Apprehended.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SCRANTON, September 9.—1:30 A. M.—Ninety bodies have been found; eighty-two have been brought to the surface. A doctor was called for to attend the men who explored the mine, but none present volunteered, and Dr. Richard, of Plymouth, came from Plymouth to perform the duty of resuscitating the miners if more foul air is encountered. Heaps of coal left in the chute have been lighted and are blazing in a long line extending from the railroad up to the hill. Great outbreaks of grief occur among the women in the nearest miners' houses. The air in the mines is so bad that parties can stay but a few minutes.

Later explorations of the mine have developed a sadder phase of the tragedy. Many chambers have been entered and miners found in them dead, the breasts of nine showing that they have been stricken down by poisonous gas in a moment, without warning, while they were at work. Roadmen, roofmen, doormen and others were found dead in different gangways, showing that the destruction must have come swift and sudden.

The spirit evinced by the miners today has been bitter in the extreme, and is not assuaged by the offers of assistance and sympathy flowing in from every side. The Railroad Company make all exertions possible, and the wishes of the miners in every respect are consulted, but they remain obdurate. The more reasonable are ready to listen to reason, but they are in the minority; many are refractory and vicious. Trouble is apprehended, and has been averted only by consummate tact.

AVONDALE, Pa., September 9, 2:20 P. M.—Thomas Carson and Geo. Morgan, very experienced miners, with twenty men, have just returned from the mine and report that they have explored every part of the works and are satisfied that all the bodies have been recovered. Outside parties say John Davis of Plymouth, and Jas. A. Kerr, of Avondale, are still missing, but they mst be mistaken. One hundred and eight is the number of bodies taken out.

PHILADELPHIA, September 9.—The Stock Board voted $1,000 for the relief of the Avondale sufferers, and the Commercial Exchange will give as much more.

Funeral of Secretary Rawlins—Imposing Demonstration—Respect to the Late Senator Fessenden.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9, 1869.

FUNERAL OF SECRETARY RAWLINS.

Early this morning a large number of persons were at the War Department anxious for a view of the remains of the late Secretary Rawlins, which still rested, covered profusely with flowers, upon the catafalque in the room of the General of the army. Many were admitted for that purpose, but shortly before nine o'clock the doors of the building were ordered to be closed to all, excepting those connected with, officially and personally, Gen. Rawlins, and for whom various rooms were appropriated. All army and navy officers in the District were present, with Messrs. Fish, Cresswell, Hoar and Robeson, of the Cabinet, with Assistant Secretary Richardson and Otto, representing the Treasury and Interior Departments. The President arrived at half-past nine and went immediately into the room where the remains were. General Porter, Lieutenant-Colonel Lee, Major Webster and General Parker were present. General Sherman, together with the army officers of all grades in Washington, officers of the navy, members of the diplomatic corps, justices of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, chiefs of bureaus, officers of Senate and House of Representatives, and the intimate friends of deceased, including Judge Gresham, Judge of the District Court of Indiana, and Governor Walker, of Virginia, composed the attendants of the solemn services.

Mrs. Rawlins, accompanied by her father, Mr. Hurlburt, and two small children of the deceased, Mrs. Hurlburt, two brothers of the Secretary, Mrs. Charles Hume, an aunt, and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hume, Miss. Sarah Rawlins, cousin of Gen. Rawlins, formed a weeping group surrounding the catafalque.

At ten o'clock the funeral services commenced with a prayer by Rev. J. G. Butler, of the English Lutheran Church. Rev. Mr. Brown, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, followed by reading an appropriate chapter from Scripture, when Rev. Mr. Wilson, pastor of McKendree Chapel of this city, who attended General Rawlins in his last moments, delivered, with deep feeling, a short address, in which he spoke of the Christian character of the deceased and his strong faith in the Redeemer as an example to the living. The ceremonies at the War Department closed with prayer by Rev. Mr. Hamilton, of the Baltimore Conference.

The friends of the deceased then slowly passed from the building, Mrs. Rawlins, pale and sinking with grief, supported by Gen. Parker and her father, being first to leave the room. This touching feature of the solemn ceremonies, intensified if possible the grief everywhere manifested. The few other ladies and immediate friends of the deceased followed when the coffin strewn with flowers was removed by the Guard of Honor, followed by the distinguished pall-bearers. President Grant was much affected during the ceremonies.

The funeral procession started about eleven o'clock, headed by the full marine band followed by a battalion of marines and artillery on foot, with a squadron of cavalry, and battery of the Eighth artillery forming the military escort. The hearse was trimmed with black plumes, drawn by six gray horses with suitable trimmings, each animal led by a groom, by black ribbons attached to the bit. Then followed the mourners in carriages and public vehicles, two hundred or more in number, two abreast, extending from the Executive Mansion to the Capitol, distance one mile. The carriages were the President's, Members of the Cabinet, relatives of deceased, Foreign Ministers, officers of the Army and Navy, distinguished visitors and all others present at the ceremonies at the War Department, together with corporation officers of Washington, Alexandria and Georgetown, and many private citizens. A large sized omnibus contained the most feeble inmates of the Soldiers' Home, while their companions walked in the rear.

Pennsylvania avenue, leading from the War Department, to the Congressional Cemetery, was thronged with persons from early this morning. Many houses along the route were draped with mourning and flags at half mast. Business was entirely suspended. It had been intended to place the remains in the vault, but yesterday it was determined to deposit them temporarily in a private vault which was tendered for the purpose. The services at the burying ground were very brief. Dr. Wilson read the burial service of the Episcopal Church, after which a requiem was sung by the Beethoven Club.

Mrs. Rawlins was much affected at the grave. She was supported on the arm of General Parker.

A salute of three volleys of musketry and a salvo of artillery concluded the burial ceremonies.

President Grant will leave Washington to-night to join his family at New York. He will be accompanied by Attorney General Hoar, who will continue his journey to Massachusetts.

The Members of Congress present at the funeral were Charles O'Neill and Leonard Myers, of Pennsylvania, Joel F. Asper, of Missouri, Eben C. Ingersoll, of Illinois, Thomas A. Jenckes, of Rhode Island, Aaron A. Sargeant, of California, of the House of Representatives, and Senators Cole, of California, and Spencer of Alabama.

TOKEN OF RESPECT.

Acting Secretary of the Treasury, Richardson, has ordered the custom house at Portland closed, and the flags in all the custom houses and public works under the control of the Department throughout the country at half mast on the 11th inst., the day on which the obsequies of Senator Fessenden will be solemnized.

BALCONY ACCIDENT.

About ten o'clock the floor of a balcony on Pennsylvania avenue gave way while a number of persons were on it, waiting to witness the passing of the funeral procession of Gen. Rawlins, and Mrs. Chick and her son, aged about six years, fell to the pavement. The former was injured internally and the latter sustained a compound fracture of the thigh.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Convention at Chicago—The Proceedings.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, September 9.—The Woman's Suffrage Convention assembled to-day. After some preliminary business the Committee on Organization announced that they nominated Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, of Chicago, as President. For Vice Presidents, Mrs. Longley, of Ohio, Mrs. Welhite, Ind., Mrs. Hazzard, of St. Louis, Mrs. Adams, of Iowa, Mrs. Bishop, of Minn., Prof. Stone, of Mich., Mrs. Amanda M. Way, of Indianapolis. Treasurer, Kate M. Doggett, of Chicago.

Miss Boynton put the question as to whether the report be accepted, which was done.

Mrs. Livermore expressed her thanks for the honor conferred on her.

Mr. Blackwell, husband of Mrs. Lucy Stone Blackwell, came in at this time.

Mrs. Kate Doggett took the floor and read the minutes of the Convention of February last and announced that Mrs. Livermore has established several Woman Suffrage Associations in the counties of the State, through whose labors a petition for woman's suffrage, to be presented to the Constitutional Convention has been so numerously signed.

Mrs. Adams, of Iowa, took the floor and gave an account of the work in Iowa. The Legislature, she said, was ready to give them all they desired, and all the men in the State seemed disposed to lend a helping hand in the premises.

Mrs. Livermore said Mrs. Willard meant that the man and woman should stand on the same footing, that is, own all things equally, and not be obliged to ask for ten or fifty cents or five dollars, but have the same right to it as the man has.

Mrs. Williard said that she was glad that Iowa was so good, so willing to give the women their rights; but there was one right they would not give, that of maternity. They wanted a law that would make the mother as independent in her sphere as the man was in his.

Mr. Blackwell said it was the duty of every woman to be here, or to learn what is doing in this movement. In New Jersey the woman has no right to any property; when she is married it goes directly to the control of the husband. If the husband dies, she has the life interest of one-third only. The whole question of the elevation of woman is in that of suffrage. Women will never be paid in this or any other country until they have the right of suffrage. The disfranchised class is the only one that is imperfectly paid. He is not hopeful that men will regard women as an equal in married life until they have the right of ballot. When women attend to the domestic duties and to the rearing of her children she is doing her share, while the man furnishes the materials for their support, and when death strikes down the man she should have one-half of the property. He did not want one law for the man and one for the woman, one law for the widower and one for the widow.

A Committee of three was appointed on resolutions. Mr. J. M. Booth was appointed chairman, and Mrs. Hazzard, of St. Louis, and Mrs. Lucy Stone, of New England, were appointed the others.

Mr. Booth said he could not act and resigned in favor of Judge Waite, who was appointed.

Mrs. Ballou, of Minnesota, was appointed to the Committee in place of Mrs. Stone.

At the afternoon session addresses were made by Mrs. Lucy Stone, Mrs. D. Hericourt and Mrs. Susan B. Anthony.

Mrs. Willard, the author of Sexology, was announced to lecture on Saturday night, on the "Sphere of Woman and the Orbit of Man."

A long letter from the Hon. Geo. W. Julian, of Indiana, was read, in which he comes out strongly in favor of woman suffrage.

Clark, in going to the rescue of a boy reported buried in the ruins of the Coliseum, was struck by flying planks and was killed. Several other persons were injured but none fatally. Among prominent buildings damaged was the old Methodist Church on Hanover street, the steeple of which was blown down. The Broadway Methodist Church, South Boston, is almost entirely destroyed, involving a loss of $40 000. The Coliseum was unroofed and the walls partially demolished. The Central Church (Dr. Todd's) was badly damaged by a portion of the steeple falling through the roof. Dr. Garrett's church was partially unroofed. The roof of the Hartford and Erie machine shop was partly blown off, and the old Colony machine shop damaged. The Normal School was badly damaged, and portions of the skating rink carried away. A large number of buildings in process of erection, in all sections of the city, were more or less damaged. Hundreds of chimnies were blown down, signs and awnings carried away in all directions on the Common and all parts of the city. Strong trees were twisted, split or torn up by the roots. THE BEGINNING OF EVIL.

It was such a little thing—
One slight twist of crimson string,
But it was ate alling all the same;
And the child who took it knew
That she told what was not true,
Just to screen herself from blame;
First a theft and then a lie—
Both recorded up on high.

It was but a little sip,
Just a taste upon the lip:
But it left a longing there;
Then the measure larger grew,
And the habit strengthened, too,
Till it would no curoing bear;
So the demon Drink decoys;
Soul and body both destroys.

It was but one little word,
Softly spoken, scarcely heard,
Uttered by a single breath;
But it dared to take in vain
God's most high and holy name;
So provoking wrath and death.
Soon his lips, once fresh and fair,
Opened but to curse and swear.

It was but one little blow.
Passion's sudden overflow.
Scarcely heeded in its fall;
But, once I osed, the fiery soul
Would no longer brook control;
Laws it spurned, defied them all,
Till the hands, love clasped in vain,
Wore the murderer's crimson stain.

Ah! it is the foxes small,
Slyly climbing o'er the wall,
That destroy the tender vines;
And it is the spark of fire,
Brightening, growing, curling higher,
That across the forest shines.
Just so, step by step, does sin,
If unchecked, a triumph win.

PENNSYLVANIA.

THE Johnstown Humboldt Celebration will consist of a Turners' Exhibition, an oration and a ball.

MISS ANNA SWAN is announced to be on exhibition in London, England, and in Huntingdon, Pa.

THERE was a clam bake at Crystal Lake, Susquehanna county, last week, 3,000 feet above tide water.

THE Village Record, published at West Chester, is a constant wonder to us. How a journal published in so small a town can find so much interesting local matter, is surprising, and how the same journal can afford to give such a quantity of matter, well selected and printed on handsome paper, is astonishing. We have frequently been indebted to the Village Record for interesting items from that part of the State.

ON LAST Thursday night the dwelling house of Eli Reno, Esq., of New Brighton, was entered by some person or persons unknown, and a large quantity of silver and plated ware stolen. The plated ware was subsequently found. The thieves, during the night alluded to, killed a large dog belonging to Mr. R. The same parties, it is supposed, visited the house of Rev. Mills, also of New Brighton, on the same night, and succeeded in carrying off a valuable gold watch and the Reverend's pocket book, containing twelve or fifteen dollars. No arrests yet, that we are apprised of.—Beaver Argus.

IT SEEMS to be dangerous to a stranger in Greensburg. The Herald says: "On Monday night the dwelling of R. W. Singer, Esq., in this place, was entered by some persons and a coat and vest with some other valuable articles taken. The same night the dwelling of Mrs. Russell and Rev. Gill was also entered and silverware and other valuables to the amount of considerably over a hundred dollars taken. The same night, it is supposed, the same parties also entered Mr. Latta's dwelling, but entering an upper chamber, the lady occupying it awoke and spoke, when they decamped down stairs and out. Yesterday three fellows who were found to be strangers in town were arrested and put to jail."

THE York Republican says: A letter has just been received from Mr. John Harnish, one of the party of young men who left our town in 1867 for Montana Territory, and who, for over a year, had been given up for dead, owing to his long continued silence. It appears, by his letter, that he was captured by Red Cloud's band of Sioux Indians in Wind River Valley on the 15th of September, 1868, and was taken by them across the mountains of Montana to Milk river, in British America. He effected his escape from them on Marias river, in the north west part of Montana, whither the redskins had returned to steal stock, and made his way to Corinne, Utah Territory, where he is for the present staying. Notwithstanding the hardships he has endured, his health is good.

THE Philadelphia North American, in speaking of the murdered revenue agent, Brooks, says: He has done his duty, his whole duty, and in a style that merits some enduring testimonial of public esteem. He put no money in his own pocket, when he might have made thousands by conniving at frauds. He made the whisky tax a reality, and we see in the annual returns the result. He was the first and only man to really enforce the tax in Philadelphia, and he has perished in the effort. The Ledger says, on the same subject: If he dies, he is a martyr to his effort to test the great question, whether a combination of scoundrels is stronger than the law—more powerful than the government of the United States. This is the aspect in which the assassination should be viewed by the whole body of the people, not only here, but everywhere throughout the country. It should be the beginning of the end of that infamous power which has so long disgraced as well as defied the administration of justice in the United States.

OHIO.

THE State Fireman's Tournament will be held at Wooster on Tuesday of next week.

MR. JOHN PONTIUS, of Stark county, raised wheat this year at the rate of 46½ bushels to the acre.

THE Republicans of Trumbull and Mahoning counties have nominated L. D. Woodworth for re-election to the Senate.

DR. MCEBRIGHT, of Akron, has demonstrated that the extract of belladona injected into the arteries of the arm is an antidote for poison by laudanum.

ON the 19th inst. Michael Lovender, residing near Mapleton, blew out his brains with a shot gun. Family trouble was the cause. So says the Stark county Democrat.

HENRY ANTHONY, while driving a horse and cart in Canton, last Friday, got tangled in the lines, and the horse ran away, dragging Mr. A. after him. He was picked up insensible.

LAST Saturday afternoon, during a severe thunder storm, Charles Welker, son of Mr. Jacob Welker, residing on Lisbon street, Salem, was instantly killed by a stroke of lightning, about 2 o'clock.

ON Thursday, last week, as Mr. Alexander McBride was driving a horse in a small wagon the horse took fright and ran away, throwing Mr. McBride from the wagon and killing him instantly.—Wayne County Democrat.

THE Ohio State Fair will be held at Toledo this year, commencing on the 13th of September, and continuing until the 17th. Arrangements have been made for carrying passengers at half fare on all the roads leading to Toledo.

THE Canton Repository says: The latest sensation is that of one of Afric's sons having been admitted to Alliance College. Some of the students objecting, it became necessary to call a meeting of the faculty to consider the matter, when it was decided that he should remain.

IRA DALRYMPLE, Esq., an old and respected citizen of Jefferson county, was struck in the pit of the stomach by the plate of a building which he was tearing down, on Tuesday last, and so horribly mashed that he expired in a very few minutes, He was a highly esteemed Christian gentleman.

The Alliance Democrat relates the following: "An incident of death by lightning in the neighborhood of Youngstown, which occurred some two weeks ago, was related to us a few days since. It appears that a couple of young men were out in a harvest field when a heavy thunder storm approached, and they started towards the barn, one of them carrying a pitchfork on his shoulder. As the lightning flashed most vigorously, his companion asked him to put the fork down, as it was most dannerous to carry it. He replied that "God Almighty wouldn't strike him," and just as the words were uttered he was struck dead, the stroke mangling him in a horrible manner. The fork tines were melted and his boots were torn from his feet. This may serve as another terrible warning to those who set at defiance the power and authority of Him who directeth the lightnings.

A CORRESPONDENT writing from Hampton, New Hampshire, says: "On our road we passed by the 'Haunted House' which gave rise to Whittier's poem, 'The New Wife and the Old.' This is the story, whose truth is vouched for by many who still live here: The gentleman who owned the house was cruelly unkind to his wife, a timid, gentle woman, who greatly feared her liege lord. Broken-hearted, she sank into an early grave. The old man—for he was old at the time of his first marriage—courted and wedded a youthful maiden, who belonged to a poor, but respectable, family. He bestowed upon his bride the jewels of his first wife, and, girl-like, she at once put them upon her fingers and arm. He bore her at once to his home. That night, overcome by the fatigue of the day's journey, they early sank to rest; but at midnight the bride was awakened by the touch of a cold hand. She started, looked around—saw nothing. Again came the touch, and a rustling as of silk; then she saw a richly-robed figure standing by her side, and felt cold hands, which drew from her warm fingers the rings which had been presented by her husband.

Ring and bracelet all are gone,
And that ice-cold hand withdrawn;
But she hears a murmur low
Full of sweetness, full of woe,
Half a sigh and half a moan;
"Fear not! give the dead her own!"

And then the form vanished. Her husband had endeavored to convince her that she had been dreaming, and said:

"Nay, a dream—an idle dream."
But before the lamp's pale gleam;
Trembling her hand she raises—
There no more the diamond blazes,
Clash of pearl, or ring of gold—
"Ah," she sighs, "her hand was cold."

The shock was so great to her nervous system that she died soon after, and the husband in an agony of remorse shortly followed, and now the house is nightly visited by the restless spirits of the dead man and his two wives.

Ah, the dead, the unforgot,
From their solemn home of thought,
Where the cypress shadows blend
Darkly over love and friend;
Or in love or sad rebuke,
Back upon the living look.

"Up in a Balloon."

"Up in a balloon" is the refrain of a very popular song. A short time since Mr. Gladstone felt himself compelled to make an apology in the British House of Commons for using the said refrain in speaking of the then attitude of the British House of Lords on the Irish Church Bill. But paupers as well as peers in England appear to like the idea of being "up in a balloon." A short time since an old woman in the Chelsea, England, Work-house completed her hundredth year, and the authorities, considering that their institution was honored by such an instance of longevity, asked her how she would like to celebrate her centenary. "Send me up in the big balloon," said she, "and let me have a good look at the beautiful world I have lived in a hundred years." The balloon goes up every fair day in front of the work-house. The guardians were taken with the idea, and immediately arranged a party to ascend with the ancient dame. They went up two hundred feet, stayed half an hour, looked down on the beautiful world as well as they could for the London smoke, and the romantic centenarian took a glass of wine, when they drank her health and many happy returns. A woman like this, who has lived a hundred years, a large portion of it in a British workhouse, and has not had the romance taken out of her, ought to be taken "up in a balloon" every fair day for the balance of her life."

The Instability of Political Glory.

The last time I saw the Duke of Wellington was the day of the dissolution of Parliament by William IV. I was at a window on the route of the procession, and a gorgeous show it was. The Duke was not in it, but made his appearance on horseback soon after it had passed, threading his way with great difficulty through the densely crowded streets. His popularity at that time was at its nadir, and the noises with which he was saluted were not as flattering as those which greeted him on his return from Waterloo. Just opposite my window he was brought to a stop by a coal cart, in which was a sooty wretch, who began shaking a bag at him with stentorian shouts, and covering him with dust. Several minutes must have elapsed while he was thus ignominiously enthralled.

What he said I could not hear, but I could see the expression of his face, and it was certainly not the same as it wore when he cried, "Up Guards, and at them!" The spectacle was so painful that I heartily wished that somebody would heave the heaver from his dirty eminence. The sympathy, however, of the many-headed, to my amusement, was with the blackguard, who was evidently an exponent of the then popular voice. Had he been older, I would have been less astonished. It is quite en regle that the path of glory should lead to coal dust.—Lippincott's Magazine.

GENERAL NEWS.

THE rich men and corporations of the "Hub," (assessed one million and upwards) number eighteen, and represent the sum of $30,407,261.

THE New York Steel Works Company are contemplating the manufacture of steel from the beach sand at Westhampton, which they think contains forty-five per cent of iron.

JAMES LACKEY, a life prisoner in the Columbus (O.) Penitentiary, recently made an attack on one of the foremen, Mr. Babbitt, who, in self-defense, shot the assailant in the arm.

CAMBRIDGE TUNNEL, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was obstructed on the 7th by a large fall of rocks and earth from the roof. Owing to the frequent occurrences of this kind at that point, it is probable the railroad company will remove the hill over the track, making a thorough cut.

THE Evening Times and Daily Tribune are the names of two newspapers just started in Boston. Their telegrams are furnished by the New York News Association. The publishers say they don't care a "continental" for the Associated Press "monopoly, which long since outlived its usefulness."

NEW YORK CITY is (or has been) threatened with a short supply of water, the Central Park Reservoir being, on the 7th, from seven to eight feet short of the usual supply. A continuance of the "dry spell" will oblige the Croton Board to cut off the manufacturing establishments of the city.

A REPORT was current in Wheeling, on Wednesday, says the Intelligencer, that Hon. Sherrad Clemens had been arrested and lodged in jail at Moundsville, on a charge of attempting to kill his wife. Repeated inquiries to ascertain whether or not the report was correct, failed to elicit anything confirmatory.

CHIEF JUSTICE PERLEY, of New Hampshire, having reached the age of seventy years, and as the Constitution of the State forbids judges to hold office after they attain that age, the Governor has nominated Associate Judge Henry A. Bellows for the position, and W. L. Foster, of Concord, for Associate Judge.

GEORGE WILKES and John Bigelow are considered the most prominent candidates for the Chinese mission. The friends of each claim that he is sure to get it, and will receive the appointment in a few days. Bigelow has almost entirely changed the editorial staff of the Times since he took charge, and others of the old force are expected to resign this week.

THE parents of General Rawlins, at Galena, Illinois, have telegraphed to Governor Palmer, at Springfield, that they desire his remains to be brought home. The Governor has telegraphed to Washington, proposing to inter the remains in Oak Ridge Cemetery at Springfield, where President Lincoln is buried, and if the proposition is accepted, will send on a committee to receive the remains.

EDWARD H. COWPER, a shoemaker of Cleveland, where he has a wife and three children, was arrested in Erie on Saturday of last week for bigamy, having inveigled and married a young lady of Buffalo, whose father is reputed wealthy. The wife of the arrested man endeavored to save him by denying her marriage, but this hope failed her by the fact being ascertained through another source.

BOSTON has one hundred and fifty registered druggists, thirty-three only of whom are graduates of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy. During the first eight months three cases have occurred where persons are known to have been poisoned by laudanum dispensed wrongfully the mistake of druggists' clerks, and a correspondent says "Heaven only knows how many other lives have been sacrificed in the same manner, of which the public has never heard. Truly, it is dangerous to be safe."

DR. FRANKLIN willed to Boston in 1791 £1,000, expecting it to increase in one hundred years to £131,000, but up to January last it amounted to only $133,000, and at this rate of increase will not reach that amount at the appointed time. He directed that it should be loaned in small sums to young married artificers; that £100,000 should be expended in public works in 1891, and the remainder to continue at interest another one hundred years, when a portion was to go to the city and some £3,000,000 to the State.

SPEAKING of the disaster at Avondale, and of the construction of mines with but one means of entrance and escape, the Scranton Republican asks: "Is it not about time that this recklessness of human life should cease? If the wretches we send to the Legislature prefer using human life as a means of extorting black mail to doing their duty, is that any reason why the community should acquiesce in what every citizen, every miner, every operator, knows to be the most foolhardy and culpable tempting of death?"

THE Wheeling Intelligencer states, on the authority of one of the board, that at a meeting of the directors of the West Virginia Central Railway Company, on the 4th inst., at New York, a resolution was unanimously adopted formally dissolving the company, and ordering its books and papers to be placed in the hands of the West Virginia Commissioners, appointed under an act having reference to the company. This proceeding gives the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company unobstructed right of way over the line hitherto in dispute from Charleston to Ceredo.

THE New York Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Animals seems very efficient. The horse market was visited by their detectives on Saturday of last week and four glandered horses killed by them, after being inspected by veterinary surgeons, pronounced unfit for use, and beyond recovery. A man was also arrested for "driving a lame horse attached to a wagon loaded with stone." The poor brute being unable to go as fast as the driver wished, he turned and beat him with a loaded whip. The man was held to bail and the horse taken to the Society's stables, to be attended by employed surgeons.

THE Young Men's Christian Association of Cincinnati, in view of proposed action on the matter by the Board of Education of that city, unanimously

"Resolved, That we view with alarm the recent proposition to exclude the Bible from our Public Schools. Recognizing it as the source of all wisdom, the foundation of good government, and, above all, as containing the only message of salvation to a lost world, we do earnestly call upon all good citizens to raise their voice against this movement, and urge members of this Association, and all Christians everywhere, to importune our Heavenly Father that this evil may be averted."

DR. WHITTIER
CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally a prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, September 9, 1869.

There was nothing new or important in oil, nothing at least worthy of special mention, and while the market is quiet, the feeling generally is strong, and prices are fully sustained. The offerings in this market continue very light, as our refiners, generally, will not sell at present prices; and with a majority of the largest refining establishments closed the general impression is that prices will within a short time rule higher. There is one good omen just now, and that is the fact that exporters can pay present prices and have a margin; it is to be regretted that our refiners have been obliged to suspend operations for want of a margin, but such is the fact. It is confidently expected, however, that the step the manufacturers have taken will bring abont the desired result, but it is unfortunate that an experiment of this kind has to be tried at this particular season of the year.

CRUDE.

Sale 1,000 bbls seller all year, on private terms; 2,400 barrels Virginia oil (39 gravity) to arrive on this water, at 15; and 1,000 seller this month, at $5,80 on board cars at Venango City. Spot or seller September, may be quoted at 14⅝@14¾.

REFINED

Sale 1,250 barrels, first half of September, at 32½; 1,000 last half, at 32½; and 500 barrels on cars here, to go to Cincinnati, at 29. RIVER NEWS.

The Allegheny was still rising last evening at this point, although reported falling at Tidioute. Thus far there has been no rise in the Monongahela of importance, and from this it would appear that the recent rains did not extend to its head-waters. According to the Monongahela marks there were fourteen feet in the channel last evening.

The following towboats, will, it is expected, leave to-day: For Cincinnati, Whale, 50,000 bushels. For Louisville, Eagle, 100,000; Hercules, 100,000; Lake Erie, 120,000; J S Neal, 66,000.

Capt. Geo. W Reed, accompanied by pilot James Hamilton, left for Cincinnati on Wednesday to load the Kate Putnam for Pittsburgh.

The Petrolia No. 2 left for the headwaters of the Monongahela last evening.

The splendid side-wheeler, St. Mary's. Capt. Sweeny, with Morris Dorsey in the office, has resumed her place in the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packet trade, and will depart to-morrow at noon. She has been thoroughly overhauled and repaired, and is in tip-top condition for business. Messrs Flack & Collingwood and Gen. Chas. Barnes are her agents. Passengers and shippers can rely on her leaving promptly as advertised.

The towboat Oil Valley started to Oil City on Wednesday, but being unable to get under the railroad bridge, above Freeport, she was obliged to return.

The Belle is due here from Parkersburgh to-night, and will return again to-morrow.

The high-headed Glendale, Capt. Hare, with the veteran, Capt. James Mellon in the office, is filling up rapidly for St. Louis and St. Paul, and will take her departure on Saturday. The Glendale is in first class condition for business, she, too, having been thoroughly repaired and repainted.

—The Mollie Ebert is loading at Portland for Cairo.

—The Camelia, St. Louis to Pittburgh, was at Louisville on Tuesday.

—The Jefferson, recently built for Capt. G. W. Rea, is loading at St. Louis for Red river.

—The Sallie will probably leave St. Louis for Pittsburgh to-day, in command of Capt. Thomas Rogers.

—Capt. H. G. McComa's new steamer, Julia A. Rudolph, is rapidly approaching completion, and will be ready to leave for New Orleans in a few days.

—Capts. C. A. Dravo and Andy Ackley were in Cincinnati, on Tuesday. Capt Dravo don't think the St. Charles will go into the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati trade again.

—The St. Louis papers err in reporting Capt. James Atkinson as one of the purchasers of the Great Republic. Messrs Haig, Hartupee, and Morrow, were the purchasers.

—A St. Louis dispatch, under date of Tuesday, says: The sale of the Great Republic was recorded here to-day, and Capt. Donaldson gave bonds as her commander. The price paid for her was $23,500, the purchasers assuming her liabilities, which are large.

—The Vicksburgh Herald, says: Warm and exciting times are expected to take place between the New Orleans packets this fall. We learn that on next Saturday the Pargoud will back out from New Orleans with the Ames, when the prices of freight and cabin fare will take a double somersault to very low figures; say five dollars for cabin passage, and twenty-five cents per bale for cotton.

—The St. Louis Democrat, of Wednesday says: That old crazy Frenchman who came down from the plains on the Sallie got his money last Wednesday, and was to start soon after for France. He is not crazy now, and is well satisfied that the money was kept so safely for him, when unable to take care of it or himself either. The amount was about $2,000.....Mr. J. Q. A. Parr has resigned command and the office of the Lexington packet, Nick Wall, Capt. Poe and son showing themselves on board to take charge yesterday.

—We clip the following from the Cincindati Commercial: The following is a list of the boats laid up at this point; In the Seventeenth Ward—Gen. Lytle, Rose Hambleton, Telegraph. Kate Putnam, St. James, Ohio No. 4. Wauanita, Maggie Hays, Kenton, Golden Eagle, Leonidas, Armadillo, J. H. Groesbeck, Silver Moon, Alice Dean. Bobt. Burns and Swallow The Allegheny. Belle and Lorena are on the Marine Ways, and the Bostona on the Eureka Docks. The W. F. Curtis is at the water works. At the City Wharf—Fleetwood, Mary Ament, Clarksville, R. R. Hudson, Sam. Hale, Clipper, Hope and Albion. At Covington—United States and West Wind. Making a total of 31 boats.

—The Cincinnati Gazette referring to the burning of the Coosa, says: She was built by Capt. S. B. Hempstead, now of Hanging Rock, Ohio, and others of this city. Her actual value was probably not over $8,000. Since she was owned by John Robinson she was at times running as an Evansville and Cairo packet. Still later she carried disreputables picnic and moonlight excursion parties up and down the river. We have been informed that her reputation was so bad that when people residing on the banks of the Ohio would see her coming at any time they would lock and bar their doors, fearing the crowd that might be aboard. Several Sunday schools which had chartered her the past season for picnics, afterwards rescinded their contracts.

Safety Fire Jacket, Car Heater and MODERATOR.
For Smoke and Hot Air Flues, dispensing with the use of stoves and fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached. Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket, which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended.
It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheared, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto, I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c. Wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired, I will send on application right to manufacture or use the above invention. GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 135¾.

THE new Express trains on the Erie railway are reported as often making the time of sixty miles per hour. This dangerous speed is required to compete with the shorter Pennsylvania route to the West.

AN UNUSUAL activity is noted in the Federal navy-yards, and Cuba is said to afford its explanation. That is an intimation that we are on the verge of a National blunder so mischievous that it would deserve condemnation as a public crime.

HON. EDWIN M. STANTON is at Lancaster, Mass., with his family. His health has somewhat improved, but it will be some time before he will return to his home in Washington, his physicians advising that he remain away a few weeks longer.

EX-SENATOR BUCKALEW, the regular Democratic nominee for the State Senate in the Columbiana District, is, they say, to be choked off from the track by one of his rivals for the nomination. It is predicted that Mr. Buckalew has not the courage to stick.

A WASHINGTON correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial insists that Justice GRIER, of the Supreme Court, did declare at the Williamsport term, recently, his intention to resign, but learns that his personal friends have induced him to remain upon the bench. This is unfortunate for "Mr. BRADLEY, of New Jersey."

THE Iowa Democratic Convention had the good sense to table a resolution pledging them to oppose the XVth Article. The Wisconsin Democracy have since taken a position of equal significance. They "rejoice in the extinction of slavery, in every well-directed effort for the enlightenment and elevation of oppressed humanity, at home and abroad, to broaden the basis of suffrage and extend the blessings of free institutions to all classes of the people," etc. Our Pennsylvania Democrats would kick them fellows out of the party, if they had them at Harrisburg.

THE New York World declares that its editor did vote at the Presidential election—a fact which somebody had thought it worth while to deny. And the editor of that leading Democratic journal did more than to vote, when he was present at the polls. Hear his own report:

"He saw by what cunning and shameless frauds such corruptionists of the Ring as William M. Tweed and Oakey Hall cut down below its level the rightful vote of the electors of Horatio Seymour."

The entire Democratic party, rank and file, leaders and the masses, are grumbling, just in this way, all over the land. The unpleasantness is likely to continue since they have just found out the novel felicity of telling the truth.

SAFETY FOR MINERS.

Senator Turner, of the Luzerne district, has by this time found out whether or not "his people desire" the enactment of laws for the regulation of coal mines and for the protection of the lives of those employed therein. His determined opposition to legislative interference with the question in the State Senate, last Spring, caused the defeat of a bill which had already passed the House, and which comprehended ample provisions for the security of underground life. This bill (H. B., No. 459) came up on second reading in the Senate, March 31st. Its special application was to the county of Schuylkill. Mr. Dawson, of Lebanon, moved to amend by making it a general enactment for the entire State, and his proposition was supported by Senators Errett, White and several others. Yet the Senator from this very county of Luzerne, which is in mourning now for the reckless destruction of two hundred of its citizens, objected so earnestly to its passage, that the general amendment was lost, by a vote of 14 to 12, and the original bill, for Schuylkill county, also failed to become a law.

Senator Turner "had not heard from his constituents; did not know whether they desired such legislation or not; thought it was rough treatment to Luzerne to force the bill upon them until they ask for it; there was no such imminent danger from fire-damp and other causes, in the newer mines of his county; the time was approaching when Luzerne would want such a law, but not now; he had not read the bill and did not know what was in it," &c., &c. He opposed the bill, because there had been no fire-damp explosions in Luzerne, and voted against it after learning that its provisions included a general system for regulating ventilation, and the safety of egress from the mines, and for a State inspection.

It is worthy of note that this bill, which, had it been permitted to become a law, would have completely prevented the Avondale disaster, was supported by twelve Senators, all Republicans, and that eleven of the fourteen negative votes were cast by Democratic Senators, including those from the Lehigh, Carbon, Wyoming, Schuylkill, Lycoming, Northumberland, Blair, Clearfield and Westmoreland mineral districts. Not a Democratic Senator was found to vote for legislative protection for the lives of a class of their constituents whom that party claim an especial interest in. We do not say that party lines were drawn on a question always of public interest, but it is remarkable that every Democratic Senator should have recorded his name against it. The people of Luzerne, as of other mining districts, would do well to reflect upon the expediency of supporting a party which makes such a fatal mistake.

The public voice is at last unanimous in demanding that the proper safeguards for the lives of miners shall be prescribed by law. Probably no better system can be devised than was embodied in the bill which was thus unfortunately defeated at the last session of our Legislature. We have not its text before us, but Senators declared that its provisions were as nearly complete as they could be made. After the shocking experience which at last covers so many humble households with the pall of death, we may presume that even a Luzerne Senator has discovered what his people want, and that there will be no more of short-sighted opposition, partisan or otherwise, to the enactment of suitable safeguards for the future protection of the lives of our miners.

In view if our reflection, in yesterday's GAZETTE, upon the culpable failure of our State government to provide against such entirely avoidable calamities as this at Avondale, it has seemed proper to make this statement of the nature of a recent effort in this direction, and why that effort failed. The lamentable consequences of that failure are now recognized by the public.

The miners of Luzerne, gathered yesterday around the fatal scene, were unanimous in declaring they would no longer work in any mines unprovided with distinct air shafts and avenues for escape. They mean well; they see what is wanted, and will take such order as they can, to secure it. But the necessities of labor will eventually lead them to forget or to ignore this wise resolve, while it will be idle to rely upon the proper precautions being taken by all the colliery-proprietors. The State must intervene with its authority; it cannot otherwise fulfil the palpable obligations of government to the governed.

This disaster has precedents, but, happily, of less fatal magnitude, in the mining history of the State. In 1850, a mine fell in at Carbondale, by which over one hundred lives were lost, but few of the operatives escaping. At Phœnix Colliery, Schuylkill Haven, in July '64, a car going up the incline was, by the breaking of the chain, precipitated to the bottom, and the twenty-one men in it were killed. An explosion at the Clover Hill mine, in April '67, killed all the men then at work, about seventy in number. At Scranton, in March, '68, twelve men were killed by the breaking of a hoisting chain. In November '67, the Pine Ridge colliery, in Luzerne, was closed to extinguish fire-damp; when subsequently opened an explosion occurred, but fortunately without loss of life. A Senator from that county declared last winter in his place at the Capitol, that there was no danger in the Luzerne mines. Another explosion in the same colliery two weeks since, perilled the lives of thirty men, but they all escaped.

An explosion in a colliery of Saxony, last month, cost several hundred lives. In 1861, 167 men were killed in the Prussian collieries. According to Prussian law, the owner is responsible if the accident is caused by the fault of himself or his agent, and not otherwise. The German press are advocating the general adoption of this provision. In England, the owners of steam-works of any kind are responsible for such damages as may occur, and associations have been formed for mutual inspection and assurance, with the result of a marked decrease in the number of casualties. Both in England and on the Continent, public opinion begins to favor the declaration of a legal liability, on the part of the mine-owners, for the support of operatives who are disabled by their neglect, and of the families of such as may be killed. It is difficult to perceive any good reasons why such a declaration should not be made.

The neglect of Pennsylvania to provide for the suitable regulation of mining-works has resulted in a fatal catastrophe. The miners of Luzerne look to-day upon the unburied bodies of two hundred of their comrades, whose lives were sacrificed by the cupidity or recklessness of their employers, but which might all have been saved, had the State done its plain duty in the premises. These operatives feel sorely tempted to avenge their lost comrades as murdered men. We hope they will listen to better counsel, and look for remedies rather than revenge. Their employers have been within the law; hereafter, that law should have sharper limits and a narrower scope. When these miners come to know what wise provisions have been ineffectually proposed for their protection, and how the proposal has been baffled, they will see when and how to secure what is wanted for the future.

THE WISER SOUTH.

If opposition partisanship in Pennsylvania had even a fraction of the practical good sense of some of their Southern brethren, they would talk as the Memphis Avalanche does, in the following:

The fiery rage and mad fury which the civil war provoked will never burn out so long as Democrats present issues as stale and impracticable as they are obnoxious to the people. Much as we may dislike the decision, the result of the last Presidential election settled the reconstruction and negro suffrage controversy. The Democratic party has no national party; and instead of forming itself upon such new issues as the exigencies of the times require, we hear little men chirping like frogs in the meadow, nothing but Democrat, Democrat.

In Virginia, not a few citizens who, in other days acted with the same party, have found their opinions as well as their State polity reconstructed by the progress of events. In a few days more, the people of Virginia will resume the direction of their State government, and it is interesting to know with what spirit these responsibilities are to be assumed, by a people to whom it is not long since that the word Democracy was the most potent shibboleth. We find that they propose to offer the most convincing proofs of their honest submission to the Federal policy as interpreted by a Republican President and Congress, and of their resolution to support this policy faithfully. They even propose to affix the signatures of the members of their first Legislature to written and public pledges, that the interests of all classes and races of the people are to be regarded with equal solicitude, and their just rights uniformly maintained in all State legislation. This is not the spirit of the Virginia of 1861, nor of any southern section of the old Democracy, nor of Democracy in Pennsylvania to-day, but it is a spirit which, illustrated faithfully for the future, will work, ere long, the restoration of the Old Dominion to her leading place of influence and power in the Republic. Melancholy, indeed, would be the public anticipations for the future of that great Commonwealth, were the principles and purposes now avowed by the Democratic leaders of Pennsylvania to be the accepted platform at Richmond. Throughout all the South, but one State can be found where the partizanship of Pennsylvania and Ohio are emulated. They will ere long find how little Georgia is profited by opinions and a policy which her wiser sister States of the rebellion are discarding. The new issues which our Democracy reject are already accepted as the corner-stones of material reconstruction at the South.

Pennsylvania's Tribute.

The Pennsylvania Republican Association in Washington City met on Tuesday evening last, to take action relative to the death of Secretary Rawlins, Wm. M. Ireland presiding. Addresses were made by Gen. Jas. A. Ekin, Hon. John Allison, Rev. C. W. Dennison, Joseph M. Wilson, Rev. B. B. Emory and others, and a preamble and resolutions adopted, certified copies of which were directed to be forwarded to the family of the deceased, Gov. Geary, Gov. Palmer, of Illinois, and to the newspapers of Pennsylvania; also, Gen. James A. Ekin, Hon. John Allison, Hon. J. W. Douglass, Col. J. W. Forney and E. P. Oliphant appointed a committee to present a copy to the President. Following are the resolutions:

Whereas death, which ever "loves a shining mark," has removed from the high sphere of his usefulness our distinguished Secretary of War, General John A. Rawlins; and whereas by his virtues as a Christian, by his ability as a statesman, by his bravery as a soldier, and by his devotion as a patriot, the eminent deceased had endeared himself to the whole country, and especially to those among whom he lived; and whereas the death of such a man is rightfully regarded as a great public calamity, upon which the sentiments of the people may be fitly expressed; therefore,

Resolved by the Pennsylvania Republican Association of Washington, D. C., That we have heard with profound sorrow of the death of General John A. Rawlins, Secretary of War, a gentleman without guile, a statesman without reproach, a soldier without blemish and a patriot without selfishness.

Resolved, That by his early demise the nation has b[een] of one of its most gallant defe[nders] Cabinet of one of its ablest me[n] ciety of one of its most brillian[t] ts and a cherished household of [the] alued treasure.

Resolved, T[hat] is dispensation of Providence [has] y has lost a true and tried patr[iot] stinguished Chief Magistrate a[nd] earnest supporter, and the Reput[ation] an ardent friend of its glorious [fame].

Resolved, T[hat] Pennsylvanians, recognize in h[im] e loss of one who always stood [ready] and place as the advocate of he[r] aterial interests, and the warm [friend] l well-wisher of his comrade-i[n] r patriotic Governor.

Resolved, Th[at] incerely mourning the loss o[f] Rawlins to his country, family [and] ds, we respectfully tender to [the] bereaved widow, sorrowing children and afflicted relatives, the warmest expressions of our heartfelt sympaty and condolence, trusting they will remember that

"Life is ever lord of death,
And love can never lose its own."

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

The Seventy-seventh Reunion—Organization of an Association.

Yesterday morning the surviving members of the Seventy-seventh Pennsylvania Regiment assembled at Lafayette Hall, in their first annual reunion, to organize a regimental association. The Seventy-seventh, it will be remembered, was organized in this city and entered the service under command of General Negley, in 1861, served through the war, participated in nearly all the great battles of the south-west, and finally with depleted ranks, and an honorable fame, returned home in 1865. Many pleasant as well as sad associations were connected with its eventful history, the preservation of which is the main object of the Association organized yesterday.

The meeting yesterday morning organized the Association by electing the following gentlemen permanent officers:

President—Brigadier General F. S. Stambaugh, of Chambersburg.

Vice Presidents—Lieutenant Colonel F. S. Pyfer, Lancaster, Major W. A. Robinson, Pittsburgh.

Secretaries—C. Snively, Pittsburgh, and G. W. Skinner, Chambersburg.

Treasurer—George Hartman New Castle.

A committee consisting of Capt. Stern, C. Snively, Lieut. Denning and Geo. W. Hartman was appointed to draft a constitution, and report at the next re-union to be held at Chambersburg the second Tuesday of October, 1870. This business occupied the morning session. In the afternoon Col. Fred. S. Pyfer had been appointed to deliver the oration, but in his absence the time was occupied by Gen. Stambaugh and Capt. G. W. Skinner, who dwelt at length on the glorous record made by the regiment during its term of service. Letters were also read from a number of distinguished persons, —among others one from Governor Geary,—regretting their inability to be present.

The evening was spent with a grand hop and banquet at the Hall where the festivities continued to a late hour. The meeting throughout was one of great harmony and happy feeling and will in the future be remembered with pleasure by all who had the opportunity of participating.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The Worrell Sisters had the pleasure of playing to a full house last night, as usual, and the entertainment was an excellent one. "The Field of the Cloth of Gold" was reproduced. To-night Miss Sophia Worrell takes a benefit, when "Ixion; or the Man at the Wheel," will be presented.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The "Old Drury" has many attractions, and the cozy little place is filled to overflowing every night. Mr. Frank Wood, the renowned comedian, is a decidedly clever actor, and is fast becoming a favorite, as are several others of the company. Matinee Saturday.

Art Notes.—A Pittsburgh correspondent of the N. Y. Post says: In Pittsburgh, Hetzel and Wall are the landscape artists, and Trevor McClurg is a most excellent portrait painter. The landscapes of Wall are perhaps the best of any of our Pittsburgh artists, as his copies from nature are graceful and not too highly colored. His river landscapes are especially fine and worthy of merit. Pittsburgh is favored with a School of Design for young artists, which is said to be one of the best art schools in the country, and is well patronized.

New Train.—Owing to the increased travel between Kittanning and Parker's Landing, the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company has put a new train on the road, which will arrive and depart as follows:

Leave Kittanning	6:50 A. M.
Arrive at Parker	9:50 A. M.
Leave Parker	6:30 P. M.
Arrive at Kittanning	9:00 P. M.

Vanquished.—The game between the famous "Red Stockings" of Cincinnati and the Olympics of this city, which was played in Cincinnati yesterday afternoon, resulted in the defeat of the Olympics by a score of fifty-two to four. The game was witnessed by a large concourse of spectators.

Man Drowned.—Last evening a man named King was drowned in the Allegheny river, by the capsizing of a skiff, opposite Factory street. He floated down until opposite the Eort Pitt Works, and then sunk out of sight. The body at last accounts had not been recovered.

—A heavy southeast storm set in yesterday afternoon at Portland, Maine, the wind being very violent, blowing down awnings and chimneys, and strewing the streets with limbs of trees. About one hundred and forty feet of the spire of a new Catholic Cathedral, on Cumberland street, which was dedicated yesterday, blew over across Cumberland street, crushing through the roof of the house of Capt. Eben D. Choate, opposite, damaging it to the extent of $30,000. The gilt cross came down into the second story chamber. The family narrowly escaped injury. The brick and stone work of the tower escaped injury—the part which fell being wood.

THOU BRINGEST ME LIFE—LUNG-WORT.

One of the truest and most suggestive ideas can be obtained from the caption at the head of this article; for of all diseases which impair human health and shorten human life, none are more prevalent than those which affect the lungs and pulmonary tissues. Whether we regard lung diseases in the light of a merely slight cough, which is but the fore-runner of a more serious malady, or as a deep lesion corroding and dissolving the pulmonary structure, it is always pregnant with evil and foreboding of disaster. In no class of maladies should the physician or the friends and family of the patient be more seriously forewarned than in those of the lungs, for it is in them that early and efficient treatment is most desirable, and it is then that danger can be warded off and a cure effected. In DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE you have a medicine of the greatest value in all these conditions. An alterative, a tonic, a nutrient and resolvent, succoring nature and sustaining the recuperative powers of the system, Its beautiful workings, in harmony with the regular functions, can be readily observed by the use of one or two bottles: it will soon break up the chain of morbid sympathies that disturb the harmonious workings of the animal economy. The harrassing cough, the painful respiration, the sputum streaked with blood, will soon give place to the normal and proper workings of health and vigor.

An aggregated experience of over thirty years has enabled Dr. Keyser, in the compounding of his LUNG CURE, to give new hope to the consumptive invalid and at the same time speedy relief in those now prevalent, catarrhal and throat affections, so distressing in their effects and so almost certainly fatal in their tendencies, unless cured by some appropriate remedy. DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is so thorough and efficient, that any one who has ever used it, will never be without it in the house. It will often cure when everything else fails, and in simple cases will cure oftentimes in a few days.

The attention of patients, as well as medical men, is respectfully invited to this new and valuable addition to the pharmacy of the country.

DR. KEYSER may be consulted every day until 1 o'clock P. M. at his Great Medicine Store, 167 Liberty street, and from 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 at night.

THE FEVER AND AGUE SEASON.

When the leaves begin to change, remittent and intermittent fevers make their appearance. From the surface of the earth, bathed nightly in heavy dews, from marshes and swamps surcharged with moisture, from the dying foliage of the woods, from festering pools and sluggish streams, the sun of September evolves clouds of miasmatic vapor perilous to health and life. The body, deprived by the burning temperature of July and August of much of its vigor and elasticity, is not in a proper plight to resist malaria, and hence all diseases that are produced by a depraved condition of the atmosphere are particularly prevalent in the Fall.

There is no reason why the health of thousands of people should be thus sacrificed. A preparatory course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is a certain protection against the epidemics and endemics which Autumn brings in its train. Let all dwellers in unhealthy localities, liable to such visitations, give heed to the warning and advice conveyed in this advertisement, and they may bid defiance to the foul exhalations which are now rising, night and day, from the soil around them. No farmhouse in the land should be without this invaluable exhilerant and invigorant at any period of the year, but especially in the Fall. It is not safe to go forth into the chill, misty atmosphere of a September morning or evening with the stomach unfortified by a tonic, and of all the tonics which medical chemistry has yet given to the world, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are admitted to be the purest, the most wholesome and the most beneficial.

Let all who desire to escape the bilious attacks, bowel complaints and malarious fevers, take the BITTERS at least twice a day throughout the present season. It is as wholesome as it is infallible. Look to the trade-mark, "HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS," engraved on the bottle, and their revenue stamp covering the cork, as counterfeits and imitations abound.

THE

DISCOVERY OF THE GREAT WEST.

BY FRANCIS PARKMAN.

Author of "History of the Conspiracy of Pontiac;" "Pioneers of France in the New World;" "Jesuits in North America," &c., &c.

This volume embodies the exploits and adventures of the first European explorers of the Valley of the Mississippi; the efforts of the French to secure the whole interior of the Continent: the attempt of La Salle to find a westward passage to India, his colony on the Illinois, his scheme of invading Mexico; his contest with the Jesuits, and his assassination by his own followers. The narrative is founded entirely on contemporary documents, including many unpublished letters and journals of the chief explorers, which, for the first time, place in a clear light one of the most interesting and striking portions of American History.

PACIFIC RAILWAY GOLD LOAN.

Messrs. BARNEY, MORGAN & CO., 53 Exchange Place, and M. K. JESUP & CO., 12 Pine Street, N. Y., offer for sale the Bonds of the Kansas Pacific Railway. These Bonds pay seven per cent. in Gold; have thirty years to run; are Free from Government Taxation; are secured by a Land Grant of Three Million Acres of the Finest Lands in Kansas and Colorado. In addition to this special grant the Company also owns Three Millions of Acres in Kansas, which are being rapidly sold to develop the country and improve the road. They are a first mortgage upon the extension of the road from Sheridan, Kansas, to Denver, Colorado. The road in operation, 437 miles long, upon which it is also a mortgage, NOW EARNS MORE THAN ENOUGH NET INCOME TO PAY THE INTEREST ON THE NEW LOAN. There is no better security in the market—this being in some respects better than Government Securities. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD. Price 96, and accrued Interest, in Currency. OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, Sept. 9, 1869.

Government bonds declined to-day under a tight money market, and in consequence of large offers to the Government, over eight million bonds being offered and only two millions wanted. New 5-20s sold down to 118¾, and 1881s to 120. At the close, however, the market improved slightly.

Gold opened at 135⅞, declined to 134⅝, and sold up to 135⅝, closing steady at 135¼. The short interest has been materially increased since the decline, and if the money market will be relieved to-morrow by the payment of about two and a half millions of currency, a sharp rise may take place, either to-morrow afternoon or on Saturday evening. The movement in the south to demand gold in payment of cotton may tend to advance the premium temporarily until gold finds its way back. The New York World has advocated this system of bringing about specie payments quicker than in any other way for some time, and in its favor are the facts that he circulating medium would thereby not be decreased, and currency only be kept as a convenience.

Stock are dull but steady. Cleveland and Pittsburgh sold up to 110; Ohio and Mississippi from 31½ suddenly up to 132, but some of the Western shares are dull and lower.

Money is scarcer and commands from 8 to 12 per cent. for good paper. Business seems gradually to revive.

NEW YORK, September 9, 1869.

The registration of Erie formed the great topic of discussion in Wall street, and the stock was actively dealt in at the National Stock Exchange and on the street, to the detriment of speculation in the balance of railways. The following letter from Jay Gould to the Stock Exchange will explain matters:

OFFICE ERIE RAILWAY CO., N. Y., September 9, 1869.—To the President of the New York Stock Exchange:—Dear Sir: In compliance with the request of several of your members, this company has just registered in the office of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, commen stock representing $70,000,000, and preferred stock $8,536,900. The earnings of the road during the eleven months ending September 1st, not including the receipts of the Atlantic and Great Western railroad, have been $17,348,353. We have pleasure in stating that the road was never in better condition.

JAY GOULD, President.

Money market very active at times during the day and rate for call was sharp at 7 per cent. for gold, but toward 3 P. M. more accessible to first class borrowers at 7 per cent. currency. Discounts nominal. Sterling a shade firmer and in good demand at 8⅛ per cent. Gold irregular and unsettled; opened at 135⅞, advancing to 136, declining to 134¾, advancing to 135½, closing at 135¾; carrying rates 2@7 per cent., and 1-32 to 3-32 per day. Clearances $174,000,000.

Governments closed firmer. Coupons, '81, 120¼@120¾; do. '62, 120⅞@121; do. '64, 120@120¼; do. '65, 120⅝@120¾; do. new, 119⅛@119¼; do. '67, 119¼@119½; do. '62, 119⅛@119¼; 10-40's, 110@110⅛; Pacifics, 111⅞@112.

State Bonds dull; Missouries, 87¼; old Tennessees, 61; new do., 52⅞; old Virginias, 55; new do., 67; old North Carolinas, 55; new do., 47¼.

Stocks opened strong and closed heavy and lower, quite unsettled; Erie was the feature of the day, rising from 34¼@39 and falling to 36.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, Sept. 9, 1869.

The general markets are quiet, though there is, nevertheless, a fair volume of business in the aggregate; as has been the case for some time, the demand for almost everything is confined to supplying immediate wants of the local trade, while prices generall are unchanged. The receipts of grain and flour are only moderate, though the supply is fully equal to the demand, and the same is true of other articles not necessary here to specify. Fruits continue to arrive pretty freely, but under the influence of a steady demand, prices are fully sustained.

APPLES—In steady demand, with sales at from $2 to $3,50 per bbl, and choice may be quoted at $4.

BUTTER—Is scarce and in demand, and prime to choice is being sold at 33@35.

BERRIES—Sales Blackberries at $1@1,10 per bucket.

CHEESE—Is steady, but unchanged, ranging from 15 to 17, the outside figure for New York Goshen.

CARBON OIL—Standard brands may be quoted at 29@30 for round lots, and 31@32 in a retail way.

CEMENT—Johnstown Hydraulic Cement is quoted at $2,25 per bbl.

EGGS—Scarce and in demand, with sales of fresh packed at 20.

FEATHERS—Dull; quoted at 80@85 cents to the trade, and the usual advance for small lots in store.

FLOUR—Is quiet and unchanged, demand entirely local. We continue to quote western winter wheat brands at $7@7,50 per bbl, that is for small lots in store. The mills are doing a fair business, but a sharp competion has reduced the margin to almost nothing.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet and unchanged; $1,30@1,33 for good to prime red. Oats steady but unchanged—45 in first hands and 48 to 50 in store. Rye is dull and there are very few, if any, buyers above $1,10@1,12. Corn is quiet, though the arrivals are light, and the stock in this market is by no means large; sales of prime yellow at $1. No movement in barley, and so far as we can learn, there are no buyers for State above $1,25.

HAY—Is selling from country wagons at $15@22—mainly at $15@20.

HEMP—Very dull, $205 per ton.

HUSKS—Sales at 2¾@3 cts per pound.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

LITERARY.

The reappearance of Putnam's Magazine twenty months ago, was hailed with demonstrations of great delight by the reading public. Its conductors also have had abundant evidence of its widespread popularity from the outset to the present. The old series covering several years, was very popular in literary circles—its tone and matter being first-class magazine literature. The new series is a duplicate of the old in appearance, and, if anything, is improved in every respect. We have before us the issue of one year and six months, in three volumes, elegantly bound in "pea green." The contents of each volume show the able character of many of the articles, which are as popular as varied. The plan of the magazine is unlike other monthlies, and embraces all the leading questions of the day. Papers of marked ability have appeared on Public Policy, Religion and Education, Science and Art, Industrial Pursuits, Finance, Political Economy and Social Science, with articles of general literature, fiction, poetry, and in other respects. The foremost writers of the day have contributed valuable articles. It is learned and yet is popularized for all classes. Frequent illustrations have added much to its beauty. The bound volumes present a beautiful appearance, and would ornament a centre table. The publishers have cause for congratulation for the success attending the enterprise, and its brilliant prospects in the future.

THE SUBJECTION OF WOMEN. By John Stuart Mill. Published by D. Appleton & Co., New York. For sale by S. A. Clark & Co., Pittsburgh.

Few readers will question the ability of the author to discuss this delicate subject. Whatever Mr. Mill undertakes to do, will be done well, especially a question that has claimed his attention for years. Much as we admire the ability displayed in this volume, and the logical manner in which the various phases of the question are presented, we cannot endorse the line of argument adopted, because it is not founded on the teachings of the Word of God. The question itself is a difficult problem to solve, and in time may be solved in harmony with truth. Dr. Bushnell's and Mr. Mill's books will throw considerable light upon this matter. Without attempting to elucidate the salient points of the work, we suggest that those interested should read it for themselves.

THE SEVEN CURSES OF LONDON. By James Greenwood, "The Amateur Casual." Published by Fields, Osgood & Co., Boston. For sale by R. S. Davis & Co., Pittsburgh.

Startling pictures of the dark side of society in the great metropolitan City of London, forms the staple of this work. Facts are revealed in these sketches that hardly seem possible, and yet they are arrayed with such an indisputable evidence, that one cannot doubt their verity. These sketches too, show the depth of degradation a human being may reach, from evil doing and evil associations. These curses "Neglected Children," "Professional Thieves," "Professional Beggars," "Fallen Women," "The Curse of Drunkenness," "Betting Gamblers," "Waste of Charity," are suggestive of the contents. The work will doubtless have a wide circulation.

DEUS SEMPER. By the author of "Semper-Deus." Published by Claxton, Remsen & Haffelfinger, Philadelphia. For sale by S. A. Clarke & Co., Pittsburgh.

This work is certainly unique and unlike those discussing subjects of a similar type. However strongly its utterances are, in considering certain questions agitating the public mind, there is a lack of methodical arrangement of the matter and directness, so eminently requisite in controversial works. The singular complexion of some of the questions discussed, will interest thoughtful persons, and its philosophical character will also attract the attention of scholarly minds. The volume is well gotten up and reflects credit upon the publishers.

ADAM BEDE. By George Eliot. Household Edition. Published by Fields, Osgood & Co., Boston. For sale by R. S. Davis & Co., Pittsburgh.

Such has been the urgent demand of the admirers of "George Eliot," for an edition similar to those of Reade and Thackeray, that Fields, Osgood & Co. have commenced the issue of "George Eliot's Novels," bound in green morocco cloth, with gilt back and sides, at one dollar per volume. The "Household Edition" is justly a favorite, and possess four features which commend it, namely: Its Cheapness, Legibility, Compactness, and Elegance. The first volume, "Adam Bede," is out already, and the others will rapidly follow. This work of action has long been a favorite of the reading public. Let all who can afford buy this excellent edition.

THE MAN WHO LAUGHS. From the French of Victor Hugo. Translated by William Young. Published by D. Appleton & Co., New York. For sale by S. A. Clarke & Co., Pittsburgh.

Among the interesting and noticeable features of "Appleton's Journal" were the chapters of this famous novel. It is a remarkable production and presents all the elements of style peculiar to Hugo. It has caused quite a sensation across the water as well as in this country. The drift of the book tends to show the injustice of titled persons, and the oppression of the unfortunate and helpless; and it might have been named Aristocracy, so as to convey this idea more fully. This volume is to be followed by another book, to be called Monarchy, and a third may close the series and will bear the name, Ninety-Three. This volume forms a part of Appleton's Library of Choice Reading.

APPLETON'S JOURNAL. Monthly Part No. 5. Published by D. Appleton & Co., New York. For sale by S. A. Clarke & Co., Pittsburgh.

From the first number issued, five months ago, to the present time, Appleton's Journal has been a complete success. Rarely in this space of time has an illustrated weekly issue secured such a large circulation and wide-spread popularity. The articles are high toned, and each department is edited with signal ability. The elegant pictorial supplements are not of the catch-penny-sort, but of substantial merit, as specimens of art.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FIELDS, OSGOOD & CO., of Boston, announce their fourth semi-annual sale to close 30th of September. They offer for purchasers of $500, a discount of 30 per cent., and for $4,500, a discount of 40 per cent. These books are in leather bindings. Dickens, Reade, Thackeray, and other publications, bought in connection with special bills, 40 per cent. discount. This immense and popular establishment serve the public in the publication of certain authors,—such as Dickens, Reade, Thackeray—known as "Household Editions." During this month quite a list of new works will be published. "Adam Bede," of the "Household Edition," noticed above, and Whipple's; "Literature of the Age of Elizabeth," are already out, Among the excellent works of the list are the following: "Greece, Ancient and Modern," by the late Professor Felton; Henry James' "Secret of Swedenborg;" Recollections of the Anti-Slavery Conflict," by Samuel J. May; "Army Life in a Black Regiment," by T. W. Higginson; a volume of Sermons by the Rev. Stafford A. Brooke, the biographer of the Rev. F. W. Robertson; a volume of poems, by J. T. Trowbridge; the reprint of an English novel, "Too Bright to Last;" together with new editions of Longfellow, Scott, Owen Meredith, Whittier, Tennyson, and George Eliot.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co., Philadelphia, are publishing "The Reason Why Series," among the most popular works of the times. It embraces almost everything, each work being complete in itself. Three of the series are out, namely: "The Dictionary of Daily Wants," "The Dictionary of Useful Knowledge," "The Dictionary of Medical and Surgical Knowledge." Fourteen works more comprise the series.

THE Grand Duchess Marie of Russia has recently been ordering a stock of toilettes from Worth, the great arbiter and provider of the fashionable world in Paris and Europe. I have seen several, and, as they are more than usually magnificent, I will give your readers the benefit of my inspection. They are toilettes evidently ordered for autumn wear, and will give a fair idea of what will be worn later on in the year. First, there was a short costume of black gros grain; the petticoat was bordered with two deep Russian plaitings, placed one at the top of the other; the first extending beyond the second, about two inches at most, and reaching to the middle of the skirt. The tunic took the form of the Russian dress at the back; that is to say, there were two pointed paniers, trimmed with a plaiting, and in the centre, between the two paniers, and a large flat plait, which commenced at the waist. The boddice had a basque, which formed a sort of sash; it was composed of a double plaiting, in the style of the petticoat. The close-fitting sleeves were decorated with a large plaited revers. An undress is composed as follows: Black velvet train, with large Montespan revers at the side made of black satin and fringed with chenille. The fronts of the dress are black velvet, and open, to show a light blue satin petticoat worn beneath. They are fastened the entire length with black velvet bows. The black velvet bodice has a round basque, long rather than short, and trimmed all round with chenille fringe; it is fastened down the front with three velvet bows. The pagoda sleeves have a double row of chenille fringe round them. Either a blue satin bodice with close sleeves, or a white muslin bodice with a Valenciennes ruffle, with pagoda sleeves, trimmed with two rows of Valenciennes lace, is worn under this bodice. Another in-door toilette is made of steel-gray armure. The material so called is a very thick silk, ribbed on the cross, and shot with the same sort of metalic shade as is to be seen on the armor of knights of old. The skirt of the Grand Duchess' armure dress was bordered with a deep flounce, and had a plain train of violet velvet. The violet velvet bodice opened over a Louis IV armure waistcoat. The sleeves had revers of armure. Delicate silks of this variety for mourning are of black and gray; three, five and seven finest lines of gray upon a black ground, or vice versa, black upon gray.

MARK TWAIN being in the Holy Land, paid a visit to the tomb of "the first man, Adam." Here is what he says about it:

"The tomb of Adam! How touching it was, here in a land of strangers, far away from home and friends, and all who cared for me, thus to discover the grave of a blood relation. True, a distant one, but still a relation. The unerring instict of nature thrilled its recognition. The fountain of my filial affection was stirred to its profoundest depths, and I gave way to tumultuous emotion. I leaned upon a pillar and burst into tears. I deem it no shame to have wept over the grave of my poor dead relative. Let him who would sneer at my emotion close this volume here, for he will find little to his taste in my journeying through Holy Land. Noble old man—he did not live to see me—he did not live to see his child. And I—I—alas, I did not live to see him. Weighed down by sorrow and disappointment, he died before I was born—six thousand brief summers before I was born. But let us try to bear it with fortitude. Let us trust that he is better off where he is. Let us take comfort in the thought that our loss is his eternal gain."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the livor and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the duets of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the above medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. my15:151-d&F

THE CAMPAIGN.

Grand Mass Meeting—Three Thousand Republicans in Council—Speech of Hon. John A. Bingham, of Ohio.

The campaign in Allegheny county has been opened lively by the Republicans, and the enthusiasm is far greater than was thought possible a few weeks since. The masses appear to be fully aroused to the importance of the contest, and determined to fight the battle with renewed vigor.

The grand mass meeting in the Allegheny Diamond last night, was much larger than was anticipated, there being over three thousand persons present, and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed.

A comfortable speaker's stand was erected on the west side of the Third Ward Diamond Square, sufficiently large for the speakers, officers of the meeting, representatives of the press and the band. The Germania Turner Band was present and discoursed excellent music until the meeting was organized.

Hon. John A. Bingham, the speaker, arrived in the city at 11 o'clock A. M., yesterday, and was met at the Union Depot by James McBrier, Esq., Hon. Jas. L. Graham, and Col. George Morgan, Committee of Arrangements, and was escorted to the Monongahela House. At half-past six o'clock the Second ward Geary Club met at Wilkins' Hall, where they were equipped and formed in line, after which they marched to the Monongahela House, and, headed by the Great Western Band, escorted the speaker, who was accompanied by the Chairman of the County Committee, W. S. Purviance, Esq., and other prominent citizens in carriages, to the Allegheny Diamond, where the meeting was held.

The meeting wss called to order at half-past 7 o'clock, by John S. Lambie, Esq., on whose motion the following gentlemen were elected officers of the meeting:

Mr. Williams, on taking the chair, thanked the meeting for the honor conferred on him. He said he was not in a condition physically to make a speech, but he had a much more agreeable task in introducing a gentleman who could entertain the meeting much better than he could hope to do. He then, with a few complimentary remarks, introduced

HON. JOHN A. BINGHAM,

Mr. Bingham said:

Fellow Citizens—I appear before you this evening to take council on important public affairs. He was not here to say hard things about any one, but to speek of principals of vital importance to the republic, if he should happen to say anything that seemed hard, he hoped it would not be taken as an offence.

By the creative power of public opinion American principles came to be what they are to-day, and by the same power they must be sustained.

In the nature of the case, whateyer may be the divisions of the people on minor questions, on the great questions of the integrity of the Union and the supremacy of the Constitution there can be but two parties—the party for the Union and the Constitution and the party against the Union and the Constitution.

After all the people of this country have suffered in the contests of these late years, to suppress rebellion and maintain the unity of the Republic, it is time that our citizens should count it a crime to give their support to any party which in the past aided secession and insurrection, and in the present conspires against the just Government of a free people. Such is the past and present positions of the Democratic party. The record of that party is understood by well-informed people to be the record of the party that organized and supported the late rebellion.

The party thus guilty before the tribunal of history of the great crime of the century—the rebrllion inaugurated by arms in '61, and crushed by arms in '65—has the audacity in '69 to put in nomination candidates to represent, not the country, and support not the country's laws, but to represent the "lost cause" and to enforce, through the instrumentality of the ballot, the same principles of disorganization of disunion, of disregard of the resistance to laws, as were represented in the late conflict by the bayonets of organized treason. I do not state this charge too strongly. In support of it allow me to ask, and demand an answer of any Democrat present, when and where this party, at any time from the commencement, in 1861, to the close of the armed conflict in 1865, ever authoritatively declared, either by resolution in political convention, or by legislative enactment in the national or State councils, that secession from the Union by the action of a State was unconstitutional and forbidden by the people's law, or that the defense of the constitution, thus imperiled by State secession or armed rebellion, was constitutional!

Who does not know that the sum total of all the acts of the modern Democratic party officially proclaimed is that it is unconstitutional to defend the Constitution by arms against State secession and armed rebellion.

With this statement I might rest the the issue now pending between the party of the Constitution, the Union and the laws, and the party of secession, rebellion and treason.

We are told that the Republican party has accomplshed its mission and should disband, but I answer never, never while the Democratic party is in existence, The Republican party is made up of the intelligent representative men of the nation. It has saved this beautiful country which God gave to our fathers and they transmitted to us. In their efforts for the salvation of the nation they were met by the old dogma of Democracy that it was unconstitutional to defend the Constitution.

The rebellion was inaugurated because the honest, true-minded men of the North saw fit to elect Abraham Lincoln to the Presidency. The Democratic party, which pretended to be the party of the working men, raised this rebellion because a working man had been elevated to the Presidency of the United States. It was a Democratic rebellion. No Democratic State Convention or representative in Congress ever pronounced the rebellion unconstitutional.

Abraham Lincoln did not forget in the great hour of the nation's troubles to maintain inviolate the Constitution. The war went on. Day by day, week by week, month by month, and year by year, we were met by this Democratic party with the answer "that you can't conquor this rebellion," "the war is a failure," &c. George H. Pendleton, in his place in the House of Representatives, on the 18th of January, 1861, when only four States had seceded, declared against their coercion as unconstitutional and impracticable, and added: "If you cannot conciliate them, then, gentlemen, let the seceding States depart in peace; let them establish their government and empire." "This Union is a confederation of States." "Money, arms, blood, will not maintain this Union." The people, by their great uprising, and by their valor and virtue, demonstrated that armies could maintain the Union against armed rebellion. Every man who had voted the Democratic ticket since that assertion was made had voted to sustain those opinions.

The Democratic party attempted to establish an Empire on this continent by the Democratic rebellion, but it was foiled and its adherents dispersed by Ulysses S. Grant and his gallant army on the 5th of April, 1865.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.

First, my countrymen, there is imposed upon us a great debt, contracted in the war for the Union, and for the suppression of the rebellion. The debt was imposed upon us by the treason of the Democratic party. That party made this debt a necessity. That party by its platform declared that it was unconstitutional to defend the Constitution, and thereby aided and abetted secession and State revolt. And when the rebellion was inaugurated the party in State Conventions, by resolution, gave it countenance and support, and sent to the Congress of the nation men who declared, "not a man or a dollar in support of the war for the Union!" and proclaimed "secession a fact accomplished, and that it is violative alike of the genius and spirit of the Constitution to coerce seceding States."

It is surprising, with assurances like these, that eleven States passed ordinances of secession and osganized armed revolt? Is it surprising that to suppress a rebellion, so gigantic in its proportions, actively supported by the Democratic party in the South and in the North, and by the representatives of European despotism, required a great expenditure of treasure and life? Did it not follow, as necessarily as effect follows cause, that a great debt must be contracted to support, for four years, an army numbering millions of men? The whole expenditure in this war for the Union was not less than thirty-five hundred million dollars, more than ten hundred million of the principal of which, together with the interest on the whole debt has already been collected and paid by the agency of the party of the Union and the Constitution, the resistance of the Democratic party to the contrary notwithstanding. To this end the enormous revenue was collected of from four hundred millions to five hundred millions of dollars annually into the Treasury. The debt has been reduced below twenty-five hundred millions of dollars, only two millions of which is interest bearing, and the masses have never been required to pay a dollar of it, but it was collected from the luxuries of life and the necessities were not taxed.

These great results, without a parallel in human history, have been achieved, not only without oppression of the masses, but without affecting them. The toiling millions know right well, whatever may be said to the contrary, that through all the years of conflict with rebellion, and from the day of the surrender to Grant, in 1865, to this hour, they never were more prosperous, and never received more remunerative returns for their productive industry.

With this result before the American people, forty-three millions of this debt paid since the inauguration of Grant on the 4th of March last, this party calling itself Democratic, propose to repudiate the unpaid balance of this debt, which is a part of the price contracted to be paid for our national life.

To prevent this proposed repudiation, the Republican party had submitted an amendment to the National Constitution providing that every dollar of the debt should be paid. The Democracy hold that it was unconstitutional to amend the Constitution.

IMPARTIAL SUFFRGE.

I now ask your attention to another issue kindred to this, which has been thrust upon you by this so called Democratic party—that is, whether the Government of the United States shall be what it is intended to be, the government of the whole people or the government of only a part of the people. The great Apostle of the Nazarene, eighteen hundred years ago, declared that "God hath made of one blood all nations of men." From that day to this a conflict has gone on between the friends of equal and exact justice to all men, of civil government made by the people and for the people, and the friends of injustice and oppression of the right of the few to rule the many, and especially of the blasphemous assumption that one man may of divine right, rule the millions, and demand of them allegience in all things to himself and to his posterity forever—not merely for a day, or a year, but forever, until empires and nations perish, and men shall be no longer upon the earth! Against this monstrous assumption every pulsation of the human heart is and ever has been a revolt. This great result of free representative government in America was not achieved without centuries of sacrifice and preparation in the Old World. Even the discovery of the new heritage of freedom was rewarded with chains and captivity.

The experiment was begun and thus far has continued, relying solely upon the consent of the people, and proclaiming to all the world that the only legitimate office of civil government among men is to protect each and all alike in those rights of life and liberty which are the gift of God and as universal as the race.

In this land of ours, men and citizens were by the corruption of the European system, made slaves. In the consuming fires of the late great conflict for Union and liberty, every letter binding human limbs was turned to dust, and to-day the Republic refuses to bear upon its soil a single slave.

The speaker discussed at length the Fifteenth Amendment and referred to the divinion of the Democracy on the question. In Tennessee and Virginia he said, they thougnt a negro as good as a white man in Pennsylvania, but the Pennsylvania Democrats dsclared that the negro had no rights under the Constitution.

He then referred to the proposed financial policy, the free trade doctrines &c., and said that every proposition made by them tended to repudtation. We regret that a want of space prevents us from publishing his arguments at length, as they were forcible and conclusive.

CONCLUSION.

I submit, in concluding, all that I now desire to say, that it must be apparent that the men of the parties who persist in repudiating the debt contracted in the nation's defense, and in denying the right of the people to so amend their Constitution of Government as to secure justice and liberty to all, are simply denying the imprescriptible right of the people to govern themselves by just laws protecting the rights of each by the combining power of all. Equality before the law, and justice to all, constitute the rock of your safety and defense. Stand upon this, and you are invincible. Abandon it, and you are lost. Just principles, essential to the safety of States and men, persistently adhered to and embodied in the public opinion and written laws of the people, are mightier than armies, and sooner or later must triumph over all opposition, whether resisted by one or many—the single usurper or the usurping million.

America has a high and noble mission. That mission is to illustrate by equal laws the wisdom and beneficence of just government administered in the interests of all, and for the security and happiness of all.

To make good this grand and noble experiment of representative government so happily begun, it is only needed that the people maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, perpetuate the unity of the Republic, exercise the right of local government under the Constitution and in subordination to the Constitution in the several States of the Union; secure equal and exact justice to all men, and take care not to permit any party to control the legislative power of this country which would dishonor the nation and imperil its existence by repudiating its contracts, by denying equal justice, and by disturbing that policy which gives to all the children of the land, without money and without price, the means to acquire that knowledge which is power, and which, allied to a virtue, constitutes the strength, the safety and the glory of a free people,

Demise of an Old Citizen.

It becomes our duty to announce the death of one of our oldest and most respected citizens, Mr. JAMES MARSHALL, which occurred suddenly, from heart disease, Thursday afternoon at half past one o'clock, at his residence on Stockton avenue, Allegheny City. He was in his usual good health an hour before.

Mr. Marshall was born in Ireland about 1802, and resided in Pittsburgh since 1823. He commenced business here as a retail grocer and afterwards carried on a wholesale grocery on Liberty street. He next became a member severally of the firms of Marshall, Wallace & Co., Marshall, Bradley & Co., and Marshall & McGeary, in the Franklin Foundry—his partners retiring from that business and Mr. M. continuing it—and was also senior member of the firm of Postley, Nelson & Co. He was conspicuous as one of the founders of the Farmers Deposit Bank, its President for a series of years up until his death, also an insurance company director, and otherwise largely engaged in the mercantile, manufacturing and banking business in Pittsburgh and Allegheny City. For many years he was a member of Allegheny Councils, serving repeated terms as President of the Select branch, and was ever regarded as a most faithful, judicious, careful member, having at heart the welfare of the city, and taking a prominent part in the administration of its affairs. His proverbial devotion, energy and tact in whatever his attention was engaged, and his unswerving probity of character, rendered him a man of mark in all the relations of life, commanding the esteem of his fellow citizens.

He was long a member of the Young Men's Bible Society of Pittsburgh, also a Sabbath school teacher and Superintendent, and formerly a member of the First Reformed Presbyterian Church, (Dr. John Black's), but latterly of the First Presbyterian Church, (Dr. Scovil's). To the Dixmont Hospital he was a large contributor, and served as a director of the institution.

He was a brother of Hon. Thomas M. Marshall and Archibald Marshall, Esq., and uncle of Major A. M. Brown. He was twice married, and leaves a widow and three children.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon, from his late residence.

Washington and Jefferson College.

Speaking of the determination of the friends of Jefferson College to test the constitutionality of the Act of Assembly providing for its removal to Washington, the Washington Reporter says: "The question to be determined by the United States Court is whether the provision of the Federal Constitution, which provides that no State shall impair an existing contract, has been violated, and by the Supreme Court whether the clause in the Constitution of Pennsylvania, reiterating the same, was violated by the Act of Assembly. One thing in the proceedings strikes us as very singular, and raises an inquiry to which we can find no satisfactory answer. It is why it should be deemed necessary to file a bill in the District Court, and three bills in the Supreme Court, all involving the same question. We do not desire to criticise the action of the Jefferson College counsel, but it really looks to us as if they were not very clear in the matter and were purposely scattering their shots to meet possible contingencies. We do not know how it may appear in law, but in hunting—of which we have had some experience—it would seem like stationing sportsmen all around a covert under the supposition that there was game in it somewhere, and if one missed another might hit."

Obituary.

We are called upon to announce the decease of Mrs. Jane McGowin, widow of the late William McGowin, and mother of Franklin McGowin, Esq., (long connected with the house of A. & D. H. Chambers) Mrs. McGowin was one of the oldest residents of this city, having arrived here in 1804, from Belfast, Ireland, where she was married, and from that time until her decease—a period of 65 years—she has lived upon the same premises—Duquesne Way, near the Hand Street Bridge, where she breathed her last. Mrs. McGowin was extensively known by our best people here, and for her many remarkable traits was highly esteemed. At the time of her death, on Wednesday morning last, she was nearly 89 years of age. Her funeral takes place from her late residence (and that of her son-in-law, Rowan McClure, Esq.,) this morning, 10th inst., at 10 o'clock.

Smashed a Picture.

A few days ago Charles O'Donnell being desirous of disposing of a steel engraving valued at six dollars, called at the house of Mr. Etches, on Webster avenue, and prevailed on Mrs. Etches to hang it up in her parlor for a few days, stating that if she wished, it could be purchased cheap, or would be taken away again whenever she desired. That evening Mr. Etches returned, it is said, from his daily toil in a festive humor, and observed the picture on the wall, when he took it down, laid it on the floor and succeeded in rapidly demolishing it, When O'Donnell became aware of the fate of his property he sought redress in an information for malicious mischief preferred before Alderman McMasters against the destroyer of the work of art, upon which a warrant was issued.

THE COURTS.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Mellon.

THURSDAY, September 9.—The case of the Commonwealth vs. John G. and Jacobina Freeberger, indicted for obtaining money under false pretences, previously reported, was resumed and occupied the attention of the Court until half past one o'clock. The jury then retired and after an absence of twenty minutes returned a verdict of guilty. Mr. Moore made a motion for a new trial.

ANOTHER LIBEL CASE.

The next case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. D. O'Neil and A. W. Rook, editors and proprietors of the Pittsburgh Dispatch, indicted for libel, in which James B. O'Neil was prosecutor. The alleged libel was the publication of an article in the Dispatch on or about the 25th of Feb. last, commenting upon the result of an action for damages against J. W. Pittock, James Mills and James B. O'Neil, in which D. O'Neil was plaintiff, and reflecting, as is alleged, on the character of the prosecutor in this case.

The Commonwealth was represented by Messrs. Swartzwelder and Parkinson, and Messrs. Brown and Hampton appeared for the defendants.

The case was opened on the part of the Commonwealth by R. B. Parkinson, Esq., who, after reading the indictment to the jury, read the section in the Penal Code under which it was drawn.

Mr. Swartzwelder then offered the Appearance Docket in the Court of Common Pleas to prove that a suit had been brought by Daniel O'Neil against Jas. B. O'Neil, John W. Pittock and Jas. Mills.

Mr. Hampton objected to the admission of the docket, alleging that the original papers in the case were the best evidence of the fact to be proven.

The Court overruled the objection and the evidence was admitted.

A witness was then called and shown a copy of the Pittsburgh Dispatch dated February 25th, '69, containing the alleged libelous article, which he testified he had purchased at the office of the Dispatch.

James B. O'Neil, the prosecutor, was then called, and swore to having received the paper from the former witness. Court then adjourned.

The Freshet.

As was anticipated by dispatches, the heavy and incessant rains of several days at the head waters of the Allegheny had the effect of causing a freshet in that turbulent stream. Yesterday the river began to rise at this point, the flood having reached here, and last night the pier marks indicated a height of eighteen feet. Considerable damage was done at the headwaters of the flood, but so far the loss at this point is very much lighter than was expected.

So far as we have heard, the principal damage was the sweeping away of the piers, partially completed, for the new Ewalt street bridge. The stone work had been built on heavy timbers, which had not been firmly secured in place. The freshet swept the whole affair down the river to the Smoky Island bar, where it left them. They can be secured.

The two free bath houses were also swept away. One of them lodged on the bar, and the other was carried by the current of back water around on the Monongahela to the bridge, where it was secured.

A number of flats, logs and small rafts were carried down stream, but the greater portion of them were secured and the loss will be comparatively light in this respect. The river was at a standstill last night here, and as it had began to recede slowly at Oil City, no more danger is feared.

A lot of rafts, twelve to fifteen in number, broke loose from their moorings at Herr's Island during the afternoon and floated off. Some of them struck the piers of the Mechanics street bridge and were broken up. The others were guided through by men in skiffs and landed below the city. The rafts contained at least two hundred and fifty thousand feet of lumber and were owned by Messers. Ormsbear & Black, Allegheny city, and John Yost, Mahoning.

The Humboldt Concert

Promises to be the great event—in the way of amusements—of the season. The very best available local talent, both instrumental and vocal, has been engaged, and a combination is thus made such as has rarely if ever before been made in the city. We are informed also that the tableaux of the Turners are expected to quite out-do any of their previous beautiful exhibitions. The first tableaux—The Battle of the Titans—is to be a reproduction of the famous group by Rauck, the great sculptor of Berlin, who made the still more famous recumbent statue in the mausoleum of Queen Louisa, of Prussia, and who was a friend of Humboldt.

It may be well to recall the fact, here, that the Titans were the sons of Heaven and earth, and were named Oceanus, Coeus, Crius, Hyperion, Japetus, and Fronos, or Saturn, all of whom were confined in the earth by their father, who feared them. Their mother produced iron, and armed with this they attacked their father and achieved their freedom. Their further history, and especially the war which Jupiter waged successfully against his father, Saturn, and the other Titans is thoroughly known and requires no mention here.

The Apotheosis of Humboldt will be presented by the Turners in three scenes, opening into each other. First will be presented the four quarters of the world personified, then the arts and sciences surrounding a bust of the great philosopher, and finally America honoring his memory. We do not attempt a discription, because we have not the space, but we think we present points enough to show that both the tableaux will be rarely beautiful.

Foul.

Among the former possessions of Peter McCauley, residing in Monongahela City, was a game fowl, a direct importation from foreign climes and the hero of many exciting contests with his species. Peter valued the fowl highly, inasmuch as he has often been heard to say that no man's twenty dollars would buy him. Sometimes the most highly prized treasures are taken away, and so it was in this case, By some unknown and mysterious means the fowl, game and all as it was, a few days ago disappeared. Peter was at a loss to account for this, and earnestly investigated until he at last thought a clue had been obtained, and to facilitate his further proceedings he lodged information yesterday, before Alderman McMasters, against "Ned" Reynolds, a resident of South Pittsburgh, charging him with taking, stealing and carrying away the fowl and concealing it about his premises. Officer Blondin was entrusted with a search warrant and proceeded to the designated place to ascertain the whereabouts of the wl.

Pretty Women.—A comparatively few Ladies monopolize the Beauty as well as the attention of Society. This ought not to be so, but it is; and will be while men are foolish, and single out pretty faces for companions.

This can all be changed by using Hagan's Magnolia Balm, which gives the Bloom of Youth and a Refined sparkling Beauty to the Complexion, pleasing, powerful, and natural.

No Lady need complain of a red, tanned, freckeled or rustic Complexion who will invest 75 cents in Hagan's Magnolia Balm. Its effects are truly wonderful.
